the Big Celebration.

The committees in charge of the big Scandinavian Jubilee are exceedingly busy these days arranging an interesting program for that notable occasion. As is well understood the object is to commemorate the introduction of Mormonism into the Scandinavian countries by Apostle Erastus Snow in 1850. Special rates have been obtained from all of the railroads running into and out of Salt Lake. This fact together with the further fact that various events of an entertaining and instructive charac ter are being provided for should be a ement to visitors. timated that a good many thousand Scandinavlans will visit Salt Lake during the jubilee week or that portion of it running from June 14th to 17th inclusive. An immense souvenir album of ar-tistic design will be issued. It will contain half-tone photographs of 400 or more Scandinavians who have figured prominently in the history of Mormon-ism during the half century which loses next month. A complete program of events will also be published and business houses are now being can-vassed for advertisements which are to adorn its pages. The various commit-tees speak hopefully as to the outcome of what will probably be the most repre-sentative gathering of Scandinavians ever held in the great West, #### fained High Priests. MEIKLEJOHN'S STORY.

Young Man Relates His Experience With the Unknown Robbers.

Robert Meiklejohn, the young man who claims to have been held up on Third South near the Rio Grande Western depot on Sunday night, called at the "News" office with his mother this morning and related his experience as I left Main Street about nine o'clock on Sunday night for the western part of the city where I was stopping at the house of David Nielson the nightwatch-man. When about a block west of the depot on Third South, a couple of men gepot on third south, a couple of men jumped squarely in front of me. This was in the middle of the road. Each man had a revolver and told me to throw up my hands. Of course I didn't wait, but obeyed orders. They then went through my pockets and took all my money, between $35 and $40. After that they invited me along the street for about twenty rods when they put for about twenty rods, when they pu me in a hack and drove off to the east ern part of the city where they told me to get out and where they led me into a small house with two rooms. They then sat me down in a corner and refused to let me say a word while they played high five until 2 o'clock in the morning. It was not a gambling place and I did not play with them. The wouldn't even let me move. When they thought they had kept me long enough but commanded me to sav nothing. wandered around for a while until found a young man who told me where I was. After that I went to the police station and told them what had hap-

Continuing the young man said: "I haven't the slightest idea who the men were. I don't know what street the house was on where they took me. I am sure I could not find it. The men didn't treat me roughly—just kept my noney. I can't tell much about it ex-ept I know that I didn't play cards and didn't gamble. I lost my money through | Everyt being robbed; that is all I know about | Prices.

Mrs. Meiklejohn accompanied her son and felt badly over his misfortune. The loss comes particularly severe upon her, as she borrowed the money for him and now that it is gone has had to borroy faith in the young man's story. Why he made no resistence, he explains on the theory that he was badly frightened. In a hand-to-hand contest he could doubt less give a good account of himself inas much as he is a man of large physica proportions.
